

Committee will get involved in matters of public policy, service levels, and establishing priorities. It will also deal with specific issues or problems that might arise. It may cause plans to be developed and participate in the planning process. It may have input to annual budgets.

4.0 COMPOSITION AND STRUCTURE

4.1 Community Representatives

Council is requested to consider Langley's diversity and appoint applicants who possess knowledge, experience or interest in areas of recreation and sport, arts and culture, parks and environment, marketing and business services with a broad range of public interest.

5.0 ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

5.1 Who Speaks for the Committee?

The Co-Chair will generally speak on behalf of the Committee. All committee members will be clear when they communicate on leisure service matters about whether they are speaking as an individual or attempting to interpret a Committee decision or position.

5.2 Delegations

For groups or individuals who wish to appear as a delegation:

- 5.2.1 Staff attempts to deal with issue, thereby reducing the need to appear at the Committee.
- 5.2.2 If required, group or individual is referred to the Committee (Committee gets background note from staff and the group's submission).
- 5.2.3 If a group is still unsatisfied, Council is its last resort.

This will be the preferred process (although an individual or group may request to appear as a delegation to Council at any time).

Staff/Co-Chair ~~will~~may also designate and invite community groups to come to ~~each~~a committee meeting to make a brief presentation. This will enhance the communication between community groups and the Committee.

5.3 Agenda Setting

The agenda is set by staff and the Co-Chair. Committee members are able to add items to the agenda. A round table discussion should be included at the end of each meeting which allows all members to indicate matters they wish to discuss at upcoming meetings or make any other comments not covered on the agenda.
